

Greetings! I hope this update finds you doing well and enjoying the warm temperatures. What a week we had last week with our Homecoming – we welcomed the class of 1967's 50th reunion (and I heard some very interesting memories and stories from the alumni!) and had an outstanding turnout for our Homecoming Football game that the boys nearly won. As colder temperatures start to creep upon us, so too will the end of our fall sports seasons. Before you know it fall banquets will be upon us, parent-teacher conferences will be in the not too distant future, and we'll be past the first nine weeks grading period. As each school year seems to fly by, meeting with the class of 1967 and hearing their stories reminded me to not always be so caught up in what comes next; rather, sometimes being in the moment and living what will become a memory fifty years in the future is just as important. I'm so glad that our school has had and continues to have the type of small-school environment where those memories can be made.
