

Community Update

1-30-15

Good Friday afternoon! I hope this update finds you doing well...and anxiously awaiting the end of January with hopes that we might see better weather conditions! To update you on our current calamity day/make-up day situation, we are now currently at 6 days of school missed and are scheduled to have school on Presidents' Day, February 16th. We'll hope that this will be our only make-up day but if Mother Nature decides otherwise, we'll use the first two days of Spring Break and then implement Blizzard Bags for the next 3 days, should they be necessary. Let's hope February brings better weather and that this is the last we'll hear of the issue!

Next week our District Leadership Team will meet to continue its work and accountability measures on our school improvement plan. Additionally, our HS principal search committee will have its first meeting to establish goals for the interview team to ensure we find the best possible candidate for our school and community. Thank you, in advance, to all those on both committees for dedicating your time to help ensure our school continues to grow and improve!

Amidst all of the delays and cancellations we managed to fit in the Spelling Bee (finally!). Congrats to Allie Rutherford who will represent Cory-Rawson at the County Spelling Bee at Glenwood Middle School on Thursday, February 5th. Great job Allie!

Also squeezed in amidst the chaotic schedule was the Tractor Troubleshooting Contest. If you need your tractor fixed Hunter Garmatter and Jarrett Montgomery, who placed 2nd in the competition as a team, can lend a hand – great job guys!

Kudos are also in order for our cheerleaders as they recently placed 5th at the Mindi Justice Winter Cheer Extravaganza. They were awarded the overall spirit award and also had some individual 1st place winners in tumbling (Amber Edson and Jamey Rettig) and non-tumbling categories (Shiann Ludwig). Nice work girls!

Good luck to the wrestlers tonight and tomorrow as they travel to the Thunderbird Invite at LCC! Good luck also to the boys' basketball team as they take on Hopewell Loudon tonight and the girls' team hosts Van Buren on Saturday! Finally, best wishes to the Show Choir as they travel to Findlay Fest to show off their talents on Saturday!

Have a great weekend!
