

Cory-Rawson Cafeteria Charging Policy

While the Cory-Rawson Cafeteria does allow students to charge on their lunch accounts, we do have restrictions for students who carry a negative balance. Below outlines changes to what a student may or may not purchase when they have a negative balance.

1. Students may go negative for lunches only, no extras are allowed to be purchased without having enough money on their account for additional items.
2. A student may only carry a negative balance for 3 meals (approximately $7-10), at which point they will receive a peanut butter sandwich and milk for lunch rather than the main meal.
3. If a student goes negative 3 or more times in one month, we reserve the right to restrict the student to buying only meals with their account.

Reminder, lunch balances can be looked up on the school website and we do our best to send home low account balance slips as well.